ENTERTAINMENTS.

Hyperion.

Walter Sanford's great production, "The Prodigal Daughter," will be presented to-night. The realism attached to the race scene in "The Prodigal Daughter," which is an exact representation of the Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree, Liverpool, England, is startling in its fidelity to detail. Ten thoroughbred horses, specially imported with their English jockeys, take part in this great sporting event and are seen racing across the stage at their topmost speed in their efforts to be proclaimed the winner of that classic event, which is the blue ribbon of the jumping world. The ten thoroughbred racers belong to the "400" of equine aristocracy, inasmuch as they travel the country in a special car and are attended by real English valets. Sale of seats now open. "Blue Jeans" will be seen on Monday evening. "Blue Jeans" is one play not marred by the presence of a villain. Its hero has an evil genius in a village lout, spurred to frenzy by a jealous woman whom he loves. Joseph Arthur, the play's author, has demonstrated in his quaint and really great play that it is possible for a playwright to be sensational and sensible at the same time. "Blue Jeans" is one play that will dissipate the lethargy of the most jaded and blasé theater-goer. Sale of seats now open.

The fourth lecture and last but one in the Stoddard course will take place next Tuesday evening at the Hyperion. The experiences of a traveler in Norway, unmatched elsewhere in Europe, and the illustrations which this country of fjords and mountains furnishes, will result in a lecture that must prove immensely enjoyable.

Grand Opera House.

At the Grand Opera House yesterday afternoon a large audience was present to see "The Cotton King," and at the evening performance the house was crowded. There will be a matinee to-day and the play will be given again in the evening.

"The Cotton King" is brimful of heart interest, has many thrilling incidents, a well written, fascinating story, possesses elements of love and pathos which forcibly appeal to heart and mind, and comedy episodes of a sort which are sure to provoke many a hearty laugh and wipe away the tears which came unbidden a few minutes previously.

The prices for the matinee will be fifteen, twenty-five and thirty-five cents. Go where you please.

The Wilbur Opera company and the "Living Pictures" will be at the Grand Opera house all next week. There will be a matinee very day at 2 o'clock.

Prima donna will be Miss Edna Mortimer, E. A. Clark baritone, and J. E. Conley tenor. Miss Edna Mortimer has the "Living Pictures" under her personal supervision and will present at great expense the picture of "Tribby," an exact representation of De Maurier's "Tribby," Miss Kirwin having studied the effects and drappings from the original picture now on exhibition in New York. The "Black Hussar" will be the opening opera Monday evening. Seats now on sale for the various operas.

Don't fail to see Professor Schurr's great collection of bugs, beetles, birds, snakes, and other curiosities too numerous to mention in the lecture hall annex at the Grand Opera house, which is open free to the patrons of the theater. Professor Schurr gives a highly interesting description of the different exhibits, which is well worth hearing.

Poll's Wonderful Theater.

Bark Ben Achmet's troupe and the Martinetti brothers give four more of their sensational acrobatic performances at the Wonderland to-day and to-night. It will be their last appearance in New Haven, and all should see these great acrobatic artists. Nor should the star comedy performers be forgotten. The Dixon brothers, Boyle and Graham, Archer and Gaylor, Miss May Wentworth, Lewis and Mulick, and Dick and Alice McAvoy are among the most clever of clever comedy entertainers. It is a great bill that Mr. Poll has secured for next week, when he will present the great European novelty, Granjean and May, the sensational somersaulting wire walkers. Besides will appear the Johnson trio, Napier and Murelo, the Dursell twin brothers, Pete Shaw, Miss Gladys Van, the Emmet trio, William H. Daly and others.

FAIR HAVEN.

The electric light at the corner of East Pearl street and Grand avenue, being in the way of the trolley wires which are to be put up in East Pearl street, the light was shifted yesterday to the north side of Grand avenue.

Mrs. William H. Gregory wishes to thank her many friends who so kindly assisted her during the illness of her late husband, and also to Rev. Mr. Mitchell, who attended the funeral.

The Consumers' Ice company has been harvesting ice all this week at Hemling pond, and yesterday there were about forty men at work on the pond. The ice is now ten and a half inches thick and of fine quality. Thirty-three teams are engaged in transporting ice to the house of Sperry & Barnes at Long wharf, the contract being for 2,500 tons. The company is also gradually filling its houses at the pond.

There were about one hundred persons present at the celebration of the twentieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Doane recently held at their home. There were several gifts including an oak table presented by the members of the W. C. T. U.

Presiding Elder North will be at the East Pearl street M. E. church Sunday morning, the last quarterly conference of the year.

Rev. D. M. James has been confined to his home this week from the effects of cold.

At the meeting of Hiram Camp division, S. of T., Thursday evening the entertainment was furnished under the direction of Company B. The exercises included a banjo solo by Miss Alice Hovey, piano solo by Miss Hattie Converse and Miles J. Barnes, piano solo by Miss L. P. P. readings by Miss Viola Hall, M. J. Barnes and F. C. Kanahan, vocal duet by the Misses Hovey, piano solo by Miss Alice Hovey, and vocal selections by a quartet. Mrs. Leoda, superintendent of the Loyal Crusaders, was present and gave an address on that work.

Rev. Dr. Sage, who has been assisting in holding extra meetings in Meriden, will preach in the Grand avenue Baptist church as usual to-morrow. Captain Fred Crossley, in the schooner Jennie E. Hightner, has arrived from Norfolk. The schooner is loaded with coal.

Selectman Eugene Thompson of East Haven has arrived from a trip in the west.
